

Who else is ready to spring into action with seasonal cleaning and outdoor gardening projects? Whether you're preparing for the season indoors or outdoors, spring is a great time to refresh your home. Read on to discover our tips for safe digging, spring energy savings, and a special shoutout to the team who helps power our community!

Call Before You Dig

Spring projects like planting trees, installing fences, or starting a new garden can put underground utility lines at risk.

Before breaking ground, always contact Virginia 811 to locate underground power, gas, and other utility lines.

How it Works

- 1. Call or submit a ticket on the Virginia 811 website.
- 2. Provide your property and construction information.
- 3. Expect line markings on your property within a couple of days of your construction date.
- 4. Safely dig around all markings.

Always remember that even shallow digging can harm underground lines.

A Thank You to Our Team!

On April 18th, we're celebrating Lineman Appreciation Day! Our linemen work day and night, in all weather, to keep power running in Harrisonburg. This winter, our linemen played a huge role in keeping the power on throughout all our storms and weather incidents.

April 23rd is Administrative Professionals Day, and we're proud to celebrate the incredible team members who keep our operations running smoothly behind the scenes. Their attention to detail, organization, and care play a vital role in serving our customers every day.

To our entire team, thank you for your hard work, resilience, and commitment to the people of Harrisonburg. Throughout all departments, we appreciate everything you do!

Spring Cleaning for Energy Efficiency
